Sweet Industry

Construction materials have oft late enjoyed much celebrity status. For Cappellini, Sylvain Willenz reinvents the common steel reinforcement bar by using it for the legs of the Candytable and coating it with syrupy shades. From purely functional, the bar's textures become decorative. Cappellini is available at Dream Interiors.

Easy Wash

Dornbracht's new Elo single-lever mixer with a retractable tip has a new woven hose finish, a first of its kind, that is kink resistant and hence delivers smooth and quiet movement when the hose is extended and retracted. Dornbracht is available from GEA Trading.

Textural Eclipse

EDL Laminates' new Luna range draws inspiration from the moon. Aside from gradating colours and stone-like, three-dimensional textures, their larger size (3040x1300mm) also adds to a more seamless appearance due to the reduced number of join lines. edleuro.com

Minimal Strokes

Kenzo Maison employs the same mix of edgy prints and minimalist structure to its furniture as it does its fashion lines. The new Boulevard sofa, for instance, is accented by printed cushions, and defined by a semi-circular back curving elegantly to the front to become cradling armrests. Available at the Luxury Molecule showroom.

Optional Rest

Wilkahn's Canis is a flexible office reception seat in an elegant, streamlined package: fold down its armrests to create more intimate seating zones; push the seat forward and it becomes a comfortable office couch — perfect for a power nap between meetings.
